

DISCOUNT STORE REAPPLICATION

German supermarket renews interest in building on BP site

BY BEN MIDDLETON
ben@findlenews.co.uk

GERMAN supermarket chain Lidl has renewed its interest in building a store in Honiton.

In September 2008 an application was submitted to East Devon District Council (EDDC) by the store which wanted to build on the site of the Heathpark Service Station — also known as the BP garage.

The plan included demolishing the garage and creating a neighbourhood food store with up to 85 parking spaces.

At the time, business owners in the town welcomed the plan saying that it would increase competition for the Tesco supermarket. However, councillors approached the scheme with caution believing the loss of the BP petrol station could be a disaster.

Lidl then held an open day at Honiton's Mackarness Hall in October last year. Hundreds of residents attended the event and gave the thumbs up to the Lidl application.

However, in March this year Lidl pulled out of Honiton because a contractual matter between the land owner and the company could not be agreed.

A spokesman for the company said at the time: "Due to a private contractual matter between the company and the land owner, which we have been unable to satisfactorily resolve, it is with regret that we feel compelled to withdraw this application."

The spokesman added that Lidl were still keen on bringing a store to the town and would possibly reconsider submitting plans if the opportunity arose.

It now looks like any contractual issues have been resolved and last week Lidl resubmitted its application to the district council.

Speaking to this newspaper a spokesman for the discount supermarket said: "I can confirm that an application was resubmitted last Friday which is broadly similar to the application that was previously recommended for approval and withdrawn in March of this year.

"This is because we have been able to reach agreement with the land owner on a couple of points which now puts us in the position to resubmit and implement any consent granted."

Engine blaze is accidental

FIRE crews from Honiton were called to reports of a car fire in Honiton High Street on Tuesday evening, October 27th.

The incident took place just after 8.30pm.

The fire was out when crews arrived but they inspected the vehicle to ensure it was safe.

It is believed that the cause of the fire in the engine compartment was accidental.

Stolen trailer info wanted

A TWIN axle trailer has been stolen from outside a property in Dunkeswell.

The theft took place sometime between Saturday, October 17th, and Friday, October 23rd.

Anyone with information about the incident should contact Honiton police on 08452 777444 quoting crime number KH/09/948.

Small fire at village's inn

FIRE crews from Ottery St Mary, Honiton and Culmpton were called to reports of a kitchen fire at the Fairmile Inn, Fairmile.

The incident took place just after 1.30pm on Saturday, October 31st.

On arrival at the scene, firefighters discovered the small fire in the kitchen and quickly extinguished the flames.

Storage container site gets five years

BY BEN MIDDLETON
ben@findlenews.co.uk

UP TO 75 storage containers and 30 vehicles will be sited on land at Honiton Business Park, Ottery Moor Lane, after the application was given the green light last week.

In July this year Paul McCollum, of PDM Self Storage, Sidmouth, submitted the plans to East Devon District Council (EDDC).

The permission has been granted on a temporary basis and will last for five years.

In his application Mr McCollum has said that the land will be used for putting steel shipping containers on for self storage and use for vehicle storage.

The plan caused distress to several residents living within the vicinity of the land and dozens of letters of objection were sent to EDDC's planning department.

Rosemary Aplin, of Ottery Moor Lane, said: "Noise of lorries, especially the reversing alarms, would not be acceptable nor would the burning of rubbish.

"There has, in the past, been plastic rubbish burnt on this site and the smoke has filled my house and garden."

David Thomas, of Oaklea, said: "Most of the inhabitants of Oaklea are pensioners, who purchased their properties to enjoy peace and tranquility in their latter years.

"Some two or three years ago two lorries parked in the area in question. Every morning we were awakened by lorry engines ticking over at an ungodly hour.

"Now we are expected to experience 30 vehicles plus container cranes operating seven days a week, and floodlighting. This is totally unacceptable."

Margaret Bellion, of Exeter Road, added: "Already the junction at Ottery Moor Lane and Exeter Road is extremely difficult to negotiate with the few large vehicles that attempt to turn in and more especially out of Ottery Moor Lane.

"In order to negotiate an exit from Ottery Moor Lane there will inevitably be delay - the containers are slow moving and a tailback will ensure in both directions."

However, despite the objections the plan has been given the go ahead subject to certain conditions being met.

A spokesman from the district councils planning department said: "The proposal does not adversely affect the privacy or amenity of neighbouring properties. The design and external appearance of the proposal does not harm the visual amenity of the site and surrounding area.

"No more than 75 containers and 30 vehicles shall be stored on the site at any one time and the containers shall only be single stacked.

"The use permitted shall not take place other than between the hours of 7am to 7pm Monday to Fridays and 8am to 1pm Saturdays. The use shall not operate on Sundays."

Traffic concerns high on agenda

TRAFFIC problems were on the agenda during a recent meeting of the West Hill Residents' Association.

Devon county councillor for the village Roger Giles was joined by district councillor Ray Bloxham, Ottery town councillor Claire Wright and the east area highways manager from Devon County Council Paul Wilson.

High on the list for discussion was the proposed footway along West Hill Road and the proposed village gateway.

Dan Jelly, chairman of the West Hill

Residents' Association, said: "We had a really good session with Paul Wilson and the councillors and there was a large degree of agreement. Councillor Giles has championed these schemes and the association is working closely with him to bring them to fruition.

"We are grateful to Paul Wilson and the councillors for their co-operation and support."

Met concerns

ONE year on from the floods that devastated parts of Ottery St Mary and the surrounding areas, concerns have been expressed about the proposed Met Office privatisation.

Roger Giles, county councillor for the Ottery rural ward, which includes some of the worst hit communities of last year's flooding, has penned a letter to the prospective MP for the area and current east Devon MP, Hugo Swire.

In his letter Mr Giles has warned that a privatisation would have a significant impact on Ottery and other flood-sensitive areas.

Mr Giles said: "Accurate weather forecasting and flood warnings are vitally important as a key element of reducing flood risk. I am most concerned that privatisation of the Met Office might well reduce the availability and quality of weather forecasts and flood warnings because of less staff, and also the possibility that a privatised Met Office might be looking to make a charge for such services — thus affecting the availability and take up."

He added: "There are many reasons for concern about the proposal to privatise the Met Office. The impact on very many of my constituents, the effect on the east Devon economy, the impact on communities at risk of flooding and the impact on the battle against climate change. I hope very much that Hugo Swire will recognise these concerns."

Trust chief responds

THE chief executive of the Devon Partnership NHS Trust has issued a response to claims that a specialist dementia unit in Honiton could be closed permanently.

Services at The Bungalow have been temporarily suspended since July this year.

During a recent Honiton Town Council meeting, residents and councillors were concerned that the temporary closure could lead to permanent closure.

Since that meeting, a campaign has been launched to try to reopen The Bungalow as soon as possible.

However, Iain Tutley, chief executive of the trust, says he understands the concerns and has called for a public debate about the challenges in providing better services for people with mental health needs.

He said: "I fully understand the concern of local people about the future of their services and I actively welcome the opportunity for a public debate about the challenges facing all of us in providing better services for older people with mental health needs. It is a subject that gets far too little attention.

"The challenge in Honiton, and across the county, is very simple. We have a rapidly expanding population of older people with an ever-increasing level of need for services.

"By 2021, around one person in nine over 65 in Devon will have dementia, and many others will have other mental illnesses requiring specialist help and support.

"We have to put plans in place to meet the needs of this growing number of people — and do it within the limited resources at our disposal.

"We know we can't achieve this by leaving things as they are. We won't be able to provide care for all the people who need it, and we won't be able to provide the right type of care either.

"By this, I mean proper early intervention and care planning for people with dementia, robust crisis and home treatment services when people need them and high quality support for carers.

"We also know that we will always need hospital beds — in safe, modern environments — for a very small number of severely unwell people.

"In achieving the right balance between hospital and community services, we will need to work with local communities to make some important and, sometimes, difficult decisions.

"We face some very real challenges, particularly in the current economic climate, and want to work with local people to design the best possible services for older people with mental health needs."

Local concerns over post strike

POSTAL services across east Devon were affected last weekend as a planned strike went ahead.

Dozens of concerned residents contacted this newspaper to say they were worried about the industrial action being taken by postmen and women in Seaton, Axminster and the surrounding areas.

Many thought that local posties were on strike during the working week. However, a spokesman for Royal Mail has denied that there were any protests during the week but did say strike action was planned for Saturday, October 31st.

She said: "Delivery postmen and women have been working as normal over the last few days but have been called out on strike by the Communication Workers Union (CWU) on Saturday, October 31st.

"This means that unfortunately there is likely to be disruption locally with limited services on the Saturday.

"We will be doing everything we can to keep mail moving and to restore normal service as quickly as possible.

"Post Office branches and Parcelforce Worldwide services are not affected by these strikes. We are updating our website every day with the latest information and advice for customers."

Strike action did take place at mail centres and distribution units on Thursday, October 29th, and at manual data entry centres on Friday, October 30th.

According to the Royal Mail this wouldn't affect deliveries. The CWU is currently protesting over working hours and pay. For more industrial action information visit www.royalmail.com/serviceupdates.

FLOOD PREVENTION PLANS INTRODUCED

BY BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

ONE year on from the floods that caused devastation across east Devon, a number of flood prevention initiatives have been introduced by the Environment Agency, East Devon District Council (EDDC) and Devon County Council (DCC).

Following the incident, the multi-agency East Devon Flood Recovery Group was set up to look at all the issues that may have caused the flooding.

Over the past year, the group has re-examined flood prevention arrangements and also produced a detailed plan of improvements to help reduce flood risk and impact in the future.

Gordon Trapmore, area flood risk manager for the Environment Agency, said: "Working together as a partnership we have achieved a lot in the past year, but it isn't stopping now."

"Work is ongoing to identify ways in which we can further strengthen local flood protection."

"Extensive research has shown that the way land was managed was one of the factors contributing to the high level of run-off."

Projects to have been successfully rolled out include; working with parish councils on preparing flood plans; transferring responsibility for a number of new watercourses giving the Environment Agency greater control over developers and owners; improvement works to the flood scheme in Ottery St Mary and collating and mapping all the main drainage assets and flood risk areas across the district.

Stuart Hughes, DCC cabinet member for Highways and Transportation, said: "We have to remember that last year's floods turned a lot of people's lives upside down, so I'm encouraged to see all of the authorities and agencies working together on this to protect local communities in the future."

"These freak weather conditions are occurring more frequently and are becoming the norm, so we have to prepare ourselves for all eventualities."

Graham Brown, EDDC's portfolio holder for environment and a ward member for Feniton, added: "The council is engaged in ongoing work to improve and maintain flood protection."

"The multi-agency work helped provide a detailed list of many ways in which defences and response procedures could be improved."

"This has seen many projects come to fruition, with more hopefully to follow."

◆ COLYTON Country Market was held on Tuesday last and included a carved pumpkin and fancy dress competition for children with a Halloween theme. Both the competitions were won by four-year-old Sophie Bishop, of Colyton, and she is pictured in her red devil costume with her winning pumpkin in the same style

Youth primary council

YOUNGSTERS from primary schools in Farway and Upottery will be visiting East Devon District Council (EDDC) headquarters in Sidmouth on Friday, November 6th, as part of the national 11 Million Takeover Day.

The school pupils have been invited into the council to say how they would run things if they were in charge.

During the visit they will have the chance to find out about food safety, take part in a special council meeting to debate a local issue of particular relevance to young people, work with the countryside officers to find out what they do, visit The Knapp Nature Reserve in Sidmouth and work with finance officers to consider how the council spends some of its money.

Iain Chubb, EDDC's children's and young people's champion, said: "I am proud to support this day. It's important for young people to know they have a voice in the community and that their views count."

"I'm glad that east Devon can support this national event, which is being held to celebrate the importance of young people in society. So many times young people are blamed when their thoughts and views should be respected and valued."

"It is important for children to have a greater understanding of how local government is run, and this will help young people to get more involved and take a greater pride in the area."

THOUSANDS of people lined the streets of Ottery St Mary on Saturday, October 31st, as the carnival procession made its way through the town.

The carnival marks the start of a week of celebrations in the east Devon town as the annual Tar Barrels and bonfire show takes place on Thursday, November 5th.

There were fears that the 2008 carnival might have fallen victim to the torrential flooding which hit the area.

However, there was no such problems this year as the weather held off and the crowds packed into the town.

Phyllis Baxter, of Ottery Tourist Information Centre, said: "The carnival went very well and there was a really good turnout.

"There was a large crowd and the atmosphere was good and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

"The fireworks were brilliant as well. Overall it was an excellent evening.

"Congratulations to the carnival committee and hopefully we will get a lot of visitors on Thursday for the Tar Barrels."

Profits from the carnival will not be counted until after Thursday's Tar Barrel event.

Double cab pickups tax surprise!

Generally speaking double cab pickups have as much utility as cars, as they do as vans – owners have been seen to polish the inside of the tail gate! Surprisingly there are a number of VAT and tax concessions for businesses that run this type of vehicle.

Local accountants CRW Accountants Limited have commented as follows.

"Vehicles that have a payload of one tonne or more are no longer treated as cars. Consequently it should be possible to reclaim all the VAT charged when you purchase a double cab pickup as long as it satisfies the payload criteria. If there is any private use of the pickup you will need to restrict your claim – so 10% private use you reclaim 90% of the input tax."

CRW Accountants Limited have also confirmed that H M Revenue & Customs now apply the same definition for income and corporation tax purposes.

"The net cost of a double cab pickup (after VAT has been reclaimed) could be available for a 100% tax allowance as part of your Annual Investment Allowance - up to a maximum of £50,000 each tax year. If you are a higher rate, self-employed tax payer this is an attractive cash flow option. If you buy a double cab pickup through a limited company you will need to watch out for the benefit in kind charges that may be levied. Even so there should still be an overall tax advantage."

If you would like to find out more about the various tax concessions CRW Accountants Limited would be more than happy to advise.

Village gives charities £3k of fayre cash

NEARLY £3,000 has been shared out between local and national charities thanks to the fundraising efforts of villagers in Chardstock.

The proceeds were raised during this year's Chardstock Street Fayre and on Sunday, October 18th, a cheque presentation evening was held at the George Inn in the village.

A spokesman for the Street Fayre Committee said: "There was a great show of support at the presentation night with representatives of the beneficiaries present to collect their cheques and pose for photos.

"The night was finished with live music from the Standing Stones, Chardstock's resident band.

"A big thank you to the band for supplying the entertainment and also a big thank you to Mark and Tracey at the George Inn for the use of the skittle alley for the evening.

"A final thank you to all involved in Chardstock Street Fayre 2009, it was a great success, but could not happen without the help and support offered by all our helpers and entertainers.

"Plans for Street Fayre 2010 are already in process so look out for upcoming fundraisers and news of what we have in store.

"The 2010 Street Fayre will be on Saturday, September 4th."

Cheques were presented to 16 good causes including Cardiac Risk in the Young (CRY), Chardstock Youth Club, Devon Air Ambulance and St Margaret's Somerset Hospice.

◆ JOYCE West holds up a photo of when she went rafting in the Amazon

Joyce, 74, thrives on adventure

BY BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

A SEATON pensioner is set to embark on the trip of a lifetime all in the name of charity.

Joyce West, 74, of Colyford Road, will be heading to Finland, on the border with Russia, in March next year in aid of the Devon Air Ambulance.

During her adventure, Mrs West will encounter freezing temperatures, will be staying in a log cabin and will have to catch her own dinner.

She will also take on tasks such as cross country skiing, husky driving and ice fishing.

Mrs West said: "I have to do the trip before the end of March otherwise that is when the bears will wake up from their hibernation.

"I will be responsible for a dog sled out there and we are going to go snow mobiling and cross country skiing. I will also have to dig a hole in the ice and catch my own fish for dinner.

"If you don't catch anything then you will go without."

However, this is not her first daring trip.

Mrs West has spent three weeks canoeing, walking and rafting in the Amazon, sailed a tall ship in the Mediterranean and cycled from Edinburgh to Brighton.

She said: "I retired 14 years ago and I have completely changed character.

"I used to live in Brighton and went on a confidence building course which really helped me. The course gave me the confidence to take an over-50s fun sports class and I carried this on when we moved to Seaton.

"I now take a group in Musbury and we play mini rounders, tennis, table tennis and it is really quite fun.

"To give myself a bit more oomph for the trip I have joined Leisure East Devon which means I can use the gym at Axminster and I go to some of the classes at Colyton Grammar School in the evening."

Mrs West said she wanted to raise money for the Devon Air Ambulance because it provides a vital service.

"A friend of mine had to use the air ambulance," she said.

"Living in rural Devon it really is necessary to have them [the air ambulance] and they do a fantastic job. People need to get to the hospital quickly and sometimes going by road wouldn't be quick enough.

"I imagine it costs a lot just to get the helicopter off the ground so I am sure they will be grateful for the money."

EDDC letter makes Tesco takeover look murkier still

EDITOR — Mark Williams's letter of clarification in Pulman's View (Your Views and Letters, October 27th) served only to make one aspect of the Tesco Town Takeover Tragedy even murkier — namely the relevance of land ownership in planning decisions.

At the public meeting on September 15th (during which Seaton's fate was sealed) we heard several members of the East Devon District Council (EDDC) Development Management Committee remark that Tesco's ownership of the land to be developed was an advantage, whereas Sainsbury's lack of land ownership was a disadvantage. I thought this odd, but lacking legal or planning expertise, I felt unable to object.

At the meeting of the EDDC Executive Board on October 7th this matter came up again. A councillor asked if EDDC was acting as a landowner or as a planning authority in one item on the agenda. Mark Williams then gave the meeting his advice that these roles had to remain separate.

He always advised committees (he told us) not to take land ownership into account in planning matters. This seemed to me to suggest that the proceedings of the Development Management Committee on September 15th were improperly conducted in this respect, and that the chairman should have corrected or disallowed the remarks about land ownership... but once again I was uncertain about how to proceed.

Mark Williams's letter in Pulman's View has decided me. If the Chief Executive Officer of EDDC, master of vast publicity resources, legal luminary for the district and helmsman of the Sidmouth lifeboat can use your columns to provide guidance, then who are we to reject it? Perhaps he can explain to us little people exactly how property ownership should be dealt with in planning meetings and justify the apparent transgression of this policy on September 15th when Tesco was imposed on Seaton over the clear wishes of the residents.

Time to stop whingeing and get behind the regeneration

EDITOR — Time to stop the whingeing. I must take issue with the comments expressed by Wendy McLean in Pulman's View (Your Views and Letters, page 11, October 20th).

Specifically I wish to focus on the very negative statement that the Wet and Wild Weekend held at Seaton Marshes Local Nature Reserve in August failed to attract 'more than a few handfuls of visitors' and that this 'shows that this appeals to very few visitors'.

I wonder on what grounds Ms McLean can make such an outrageous claim.

The event to which she refers attracted a total of 550 visitors over the course of the weekend and this was followed up by a further 120 attending a smaller event, as part of Seaton Carnival, the following weekend.

I spoke to families from the local area, as well as from further afield, and all were agreed that the Wet and Wild Weekend was a brilliant event that they would attend again in future years.

I spoke to one family from Yorkshire who said they had returned to Seaton for their holiday because they had been to the Wet and Wild Weekend last year and wanted to come again.

I think the efforts made by the council's countryside service to lay on this sort of event, as well as the ongoing programme of improved visitor facilities to the nature reserves, is attracting a clear, positive response from the visiting public.

I gather that other nature reserve projects similar to the Axe Estuary Wetlands already attract tens of thousands of visitors and I don't see why our own wonderful reserves shouldn't do the same for Seaton.

Since Ms McLean is obviously prone to exaggeration for the sake of dramatic effect, this does call into question the credibility of other points she makes in her letter.

Sadly, those who wanted another solution to Seaton's regeneration needs are demonstrating that they are bad losers and must resort to hysterical terminology — "skyscraper blocks for the unemployed" — in a bid to win popular support.

As an East Devon District Council (EDDC) councillor, I am proud of the efforts this council is making to not only attract private sector funding to the town but to maximise the effectiveness of its own assets to boost Seaton's tourism offering. It is disingenuous to suggest that EDDC wants to destroy the town's economy — for what possible purpose would that serve?

Maybe those who want to talk down Seaton's prospects should ask themselves what their motives are.

These misguided people have the same mindset as those who blame Tesco for the closure of a holiday camp that was going out of business long before Tesco became involved, and who choose — conveniently — to forget that the major obstacle to the Sainsbury's proposal was that they did not own the site on which they wanted to build.

There was no stitch-up. The better proposal won the day and now we must move on.

It's time for those who really care about Seaton — as I do — to stop their whingeing and get behind the chosen regeneration partner. That way we may find that we can achieve the very best outcome for Seaton by working together rather than squabbling like a bunch of spoiled brats.

It's a funny old business

BEING a newspaper editor is a funny old job.

It is an amazing position and I regularly acknowledge my good luck that I am blessed with doing a job I actually enjoy when I hear so many others counting the days down until the weekend.

But, like any job, it has its ups and downs. You come under fire from the public a great deal and it is not uncommon for the reasons to be things that are quite out of your control.

To make up for those who are unhappy, you also receive gratitude and supportive comments from happy customers, which makes it all worthwhile.

The other odd thing about being a newspaper editor is that it turns your working life upside down meaning you work absurd hours. All editors' duties are different, depending on what type of publication they work.

As this is a local, weekly newspaper, the newsroom's week is like a funnel of work which starts off slow at the beginning of the paper week and then picks up pace — often with a brief lull in the middle — to a frenzy of organised chaos at the week's end.

Because of the nature of what I do, I am able to work a lot from home (upside), but this is because I often work unsocial hours — evenings and weekends included (downside).

However, this does lend its hand well to certain things, including my beloved equestrian hobby. The winter evenings (or should I say afternoons?) are upon us and are quite unforgiving when one owns a horse and works nine to five.

My 'interesting' working hours do mean I can be flexible and am able to take advantage of this with riding sometimes.

Last week was one such time. A member of the local riding club I recently joined — Lamberts Castle Riding Club — kindly organised a ride out around one of our beautiful villages and I jumped at the chance.

Fiona Benger, of Dalwood, offered to lead members out around the country lanes and brideways and I'm so glad I went. There were only three of us in the end due to various reasons but the three-hour ride across arguably some of the best countryside in the world was amazing.

I love east Devon and try to appreciate the fact I live here with it all on my doorstep but, admittedly, I get to actually see a lot of it.

I ride around Kilmington and Shute, where I keep the horse, which is very pretty indeed but it is so uplifting to go somewhere new and, in my opinion, there's no better way than to drink in the stunning views than on horseback. Three hours gets you quite a way, alternating steady and fast paces, and you are able to see the most wonderful views.

The horses had a whale of a time as did their riders and, finally getting back home late afternoon with aching legs but a happy face, I started work!

Please explain why rules don't apply to both towns

EDITOR — Mark Williams stated in his letter last week "what [East Devon District Council (EDDC)] does have at heart is Seaton's best interests".

Is this the same EDDC which has systematically stripped Seaton of its assets? Persecuted its shop owners with planning rules? Refused to re-open the youth centre? By-passed us in favour of other areas time and again? Is about to sell our youth centre and public toilets to Tesco without replacing them? Is attempting to take our play and recreation money to buy land for the Mega Marsh even though we have no leisure facilities? Demolished the shelter on the Esplanade and didn't replace it, ignoring those planning regulations he quotes at us? Looked away when 150 jobs were lost at the Holiday Village, yet ran around trying to save 30 in Honiton?

I'm sure the tramway visitors who disliked looking at the old holiday park will just love the view of the giant Tesco when it's built. Isn't that exactly what people want to see when they come on holiday or for a day trip to the Jurassic and World Heritage Coastline?

Is it really "misleading and unhelpful" to expect councillors to act on behalf of the wishes of the voters, especially when those councillors won't have to live with the decisions they make?

What Mr Williams fails to explain is why EDDC has allowed Tesco to operate its DOT COM business in Seaton, bringing unimaginable amounts of trucks into a small seaside town, when logistically and environmentally this would be better suited near the A30.

What Mr Williams also fails to explain is why EDDC chose to ignore huge amounts of planning regulations when it passed the Tesco application.

What he fails to explain is why Seaton gets lumbered with a supermarket that is too big and would adversely affect the shops in the town, yet Honiton doesn't. The same rules should apply to both towns.

Please do explain all of this, I would love to know. I expect the rest of Seaton would too.

Local councillors did stand up against the Tesco store

EDITOR — I have refrained from commenting or contradicting the often ill-informed and idiotic letters criticising Seaton town and district councillors because I have better things to do.

However, after reading the letter in Pulman's View (Your Views and Letters, October 13th) from "name and address supplied", I feel I must present the facts. No wonder "name and address supplied" wants to remain anonymous because his or her ignorance is mind boggling.

There is only one citizen of Seaton, other than sitting councillors, who is qualified to comment on the actions of Seaton Town Council and its councillors and officers. Yes, allow me to repeat — just one. This person has attended nearly all meetings for the last eight years. It is very rare to get any other members of the public at meetings and even rarer to see one who attends two consecutive meetings.

Here are the facts about the supermarket saga. First, let it be understood that Seaton Town Council is not the planning authority and has no power to stop any development whatsoever. The council acts only as consultants.

That being said, after many, many hours of reading, the documents filled four boxes about the same size as our green recycling boxes for each application, and many hours of deliberations and discussion, Seaton Town Council's planning committee held its meeting about this matter, in public, in the town hall.

This was after public exhibitions and consultations some organised by the applicants and some by the town council. I wonder if "name and address supplied" has read all the documents in those boxes?

By the time of this committee meeting it was obvious that the public favoured the north site, Sainsbury's, against the south site, Tesco.

I chaired this meeting which voted for the north site because, just like the consulted public, the committee members were convinced that this proposal would bring the most benefits to the town both economically and aesthetically. This decision had to be ratified by the full council which duly happened.

Councillors voting for the north site, Sainsbury's, were Pepita Collins, Graham Jones, John Meakin, Sophie O'Connell, Bob Palacio, Julia Roebuck and Claire Wise. No councillor voted against. Three councillors did not vote. Peter Burrows, who had to declare an interest because he had sought and received money from Tesco for the carnival; Jim Knight because he is a district councillor and could not prejudice his position; and Sandra Semple who said she had prejudged the issue. No councillor voted for Tesco and all those present voted for Sainsbury's. We unanimously stood up against Tesco and stood up for the people's choice. "Name and address supplied" clearly doesn't know this and hasn't bothered to find out.

This decision was sent as a formal document to the planning authority, East Devon District Council, where it was discussed at its Development Management Committee where the officers recommended acceptance of the Tesco plan and rejection of the Sainsbury's plan even though they were very aware of the desires of the people of Seaton and the views of the town council.

Our district councillors, Stephanie Jones, Jim Knight and Margaret Rogers, were each given three minutes to put forward their views. I was not there but have been told that all three put forward similar views to those of the town council and the people they represent.

The Development Management Committee duly met in Seaton Town Hall to formally make the decision. None of our district councillors are on this committee so have no vote. After much discussion and submissions from the public, the members took the advice of the unelected officers and voted for the south site, Tesco, and against the north site, Sainsbury's.

The East Devon District Council councillors who made the decision for the future of Seaton and its people were: GP Chamberlain, who represents Exmouth; JR Chubb, Sidmouth; PA Diviani, Yarty; AE Dinnis, Whimple; RFranklin, Budleigh Salterton; M Green, Beer; A Liverton, Raleigh; H Parr, Colyton; G Troman, Sidmouth; and SC Wragg, Exmouth. Councillor B Bruxton abstained.

The letter writer, "name and address supplied", states that anyone who represents Seaton should resign because they went against 80 per cent of the people's wishes. They didn't, they all stood up against Tesco and for Sainsbury's.

This letter writer should get his or her facts straight before accusing hard working councillors of not taking notice of the people's wishes. Shame on them. I look forward to a letter of apology to be printed in Pulman's View with his or her name to it!

Autumn kitchen makeovers without the hassle

www.granitetransformations.co.uk/exeter

Planning a total kitchen makeover, complete with new units, fittings and appliances, might have been ruled out by the credit crunch. But replacing the worktops will completely transform your kitchen and add value to the property, at a more affordable price.

Thankfully, there are many traditional and high-tech materials to choose from, like granite, engineered stone, laminate, tile, glass, hardwood, even concrete – and each has its pro's and con's.

But, there's an advanced worktop surface that is perhaps less familiar – marketed as the Trend Collection – which is manufactured exclusively by Granite Transformations and is available locally from its showroom based in the Newton Centre, Marsh Barton, Exeter.

THE TREND COLLECTION

When it comes to transforming your kitchen, only the best surfaces will do. Imported from Italy, Granite Transformations offers you four beautiful ranges: Trend-R (granite and stone), Trend-Q (quartz), Trend-G (glass) and Trend-M (mosaic).

Our products combine some of the world's finest granite, quartz, glass mosaics and stones sealed with state-of-the-art polymer technology to produce a brilliantly engineered surface for the kitchen of your dreams.

PRODUCT FEATURES

Each worktop is custom-made to fit your exact requirements – most installations are completed in just one day. They are in and out with very little disruption. The worktops fit over your existing worktops and so save you time, money and mess – and with no demolition work required.

The worksurfaces are manufactured using 95% granite, stone or glass which is sealed using state-of-the-art polymer technology. This gives you all the great properties of granite and stone while eliminating the usual problems of ordinary granite or marble such as scratching, chipping and maintenance with no messy resealing or buffing ever required.

All worktops have a lifetime warranty and are heat, scratch, chip and stain resistant. And with over 60 stunning colours and designs to choose from, you can install that luxury kitchen of your dreams with the minimum of hassle.

THE COMPANY

You can depend on Granite Transformations – founded in 1996, they are an international organisation with over 160 locations carrying out thousands of installations worldwide every week.

They design and manufacture their own products so you can buy direct and save money.

They bring the showroom to you with their free in-house design service. It's difficult to decide on design and colour without seeing it in your own home. Their knowledgeable designers help you focus on the right choices to get the look you want at the price you can afford.

There are no hidden costs – their prices include everything. So, don't be fooled by misleading square metre or linear metre pricing: know immediately the exact price you are paying.

If required, they can also supply and fit a new sink and appliances as part of the refit.

They are fully licensed and insured. Installation is carried out by their own accredited technicians; also, they do not use subcontractors, so avoiding subcontractor headaches. All of which goes to saving you money, saving you hassle and giving you peace of mind.

Strength of annual show

THE Axmouth Flower Show Committee held its annual meeting recently.

Chairman Carl Northcot said the show has continued to go from strength to strength and praised the committee for its hard work and dedication.

Once again the show was held in splendid sunshine and the large crowds were entertained by the excellent Gus Dermody.

Carl added that the committee had been reinvesting money into the show by purchasing stalls, tables, storage trailer and other equipment.

However, as in previous years, the committee was also able to make donations to several local organisations.

Representatives from the following organisations then received donations: Axmouth WI, Axmouth Village Hall, Axmouth Pre-school, Axmouth Church Fabric Fund, Seaton Town FC, Axmouth FC, Axmouth Church Flower Fund, Axmouth Children's Theatre and Axmouth Children's Playground.

A donation was also made towards a memorial for the late Roger Webber.

Carl closed by thanking Lindsay Smitham who was standing down as treasurer. John Crowe was appointed as the new treasurer.

Preparations are now well advanced for the show in 2010, this will be held on Saturday, July 31st.

Attractions booked for the main arena are The Chard Goldstars Majorettes and the world famous Rockwood Dog Display Team from Carmarthenshire which supplies lots of dogs for the TV and film industry.

Top baking

THIS summer, members of Seaton WI responded robustly to requests to bake cakes for various fundraising events.

Monies raised from the stall in Seaton's market square on the cycling weekend were donated to The Peninsula Medical School and the WI charity supporting a group of destitute women in India.

Last month, nine members enjoyed the Devon Federation WI autumn meeting at Torquay. A bonus came in the form of a flower arranging demonstration by internationally-renowned Michael Bowyer.

Speaker David Holt gave us an interesting and amusing account of how he became a primary school teacher and achieved a PhD.

On November 17th, the annual meeting will be held at The Methodist Church Hall at 2.15pm.

Saudi tales and interesting visit of The Queen

AT the first afternoon autumn meeting of Phoenix Ladies, members heard that £300 had been given to the club's chosen charity Devon Air Ambulance.

The speaker was Mr Dermot Knox who talked about his extensive travels with dramatic photographs to illustrate his talk.

He began in Saudi Arabia where he had lived for a while and told us how when Queen Elizabeth made a state visit she was made an honorary gentleman as normally their king could not be seen with another woman.

The Queen and her entourage of ladies had to cover their arms and necks and wear long clothes throughout in order to comply with customs.

There were many anomalies and blood-for-blood feuds, even if someone was accidentally killed in a road accident. However, there was an option of compensation instead of taking a life so the discerning would take this.

The most impressive and exotic place he visited was Petra, 56 miles south of the Red Sea. Here he visited the Pink Palace under Mount Hor where the only access was via a huge 100ft gorge in the rock and the only way to get there was on foot or horseback — very tiring.

When questioned, Mr Knox said he could not easily choose any place he didn't find unique as even the barren desert had great contrasts and was serenely beautiful.

After the break for tea, Jessica Hutson gave a delightful microwave cookery demonstration in which she demonstrated sponge puddings, meringues and other quick recipes to inspire everyone.

The shopping trip is to Southampton on November 2nd. The next meeting is on November 11th when Colin Pady will give a talk entitled the History of Colyton.

Panto history and magic for ladies

AXMOUTH WI president Olive Owen welcomed everyone to the recent meeting.

Olive mentioned the very successful quilling afternoon and some beautiful cards made at the class were brought along for members to enjoy. Several members attended the autumn group meeting hosted by Beer WI.

After the business, members were entertained by a magician who managed to lose a £20 note then magically the note turned up in an orange at the end of his act.

There will be a home economics meeting on November 16th and a craft day follow-up on December 7th featuring Christmas decorations at Kilmington Cricket Club.

John Seward gave a funny and fascinating talk about the history of pantomime, interspersed with several jokes and funny poems.

Pantomime started back in the 1800s with the Commedia dell'Arte and travelled through Italy and France before arriving in England.

The most popular pantomimes are Cinderella, Aladdin, Dick Whittington and Snow White. The word slapstick is derived from a sword or bat with a hinged flap which created a slapping sound causing great hilarity amongst audiences.

The various characters in pantomime are the hero, principal boy — always played by a pretty young girl with good legs; the dame and the ugly sisters — who are all played by men.

Traditional pantomimes are often a child's first experience of live theatre and still popular today.

Flower of the month was won by Norma Sweetland, second, Janet Bodington and third, Wendy Larkin. Wendy Larkin won the competition with Fee Hedgar, second, and Linda Hedgar, third.

The next meeting will be on November 17th in Axmouth Hall at 2.30pm.

◆ HEMYOCK Women with speaker Chris Grimshaw during the latest meeting

Chris talks relationships with women

HEMYOCK Women enjoyed supper together at Hemyock Baptist Church on Thursday, October 15th, whilst learning how to improve everyday relationships.

Chris Grimshaw, who worked as a veterinary surgeon and is now teaching people relationship skills, spoke of how the breakdown of relationships affects all of us at some point in our lives, but how, with a few core skills, breakdowns and break-ups can be avoided.

Hemyock Women members were able to actively participate and discuss many of the issues and situations that are involved in making relationships lasting and successful.

Chris is about to begin a new venture working with people who support the homeless in Salvation Army Hostels.

Many expressed an interest in having Chris return to Hemyock Women for a more in-depth session.

The vicar pulls first pint as locals save their local

BY BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

AN historic pub near Honiton has been saved thanks to the efforts of local residents.

The Yarcombe Inn, Yarcombe, had been closed for the past 18 months but on Thursday, October 29th, at 6pm, the doors were open once again and the beer was flowing — the first pint was pulled by local vicar Alastair McCollum.

The pub boasts many fascinating features and has parts which date back to the ninth century, it is also said to be the former watering hole of Sir Francis Drake.

For months it sat empty and was under threat of being abandoned as no buyer could be found.

However, a group of villagers, distressed at the potential loss of a valuable asset to the community contacted a variety of brewers and organisations to explore ways to re-open the village boozier.

The group was approached by a broadcasting company and the pub is set to be featured on a series called Save Our Boozier. The show involves creating community pubs and follows the Yarcombe Inn during the first month of trading.

Save Our Boozier can be seen on Sky channel Blighty in the new year.

A committee has now been formed and it will be responsible for the day-to-day management and running of the Yarcombe Inn.

Phil Kerr, of Yarcombe, has been

◆ THE village pub in Yarcombe — which has been closed for a while — officially reopened on Thursday evening as the Yarcombe Community Inn. It is being run by a village committee and on opening night the first pint was pulled by the Reverend Alastair McCollum, Kilmington's vicar. He is pictured with the committee at the bar one of the driving forces behind the project and said: "We think we had a very good turnout for the opening night and it seemed to be well received. A lot of beer was sold and we had a fantastic firework display."

"Every table was full with people eating and then a bit later on we had people from the agricultural community join us and it was really good. I genuinely believe it was a good start."

The pub will be open from 6pm until 11pm Tuesday to Friday, 11am until 11pm on Saturdays and from 11am until 3pm on Sundays. It is closed on Mondays.

Mr Kerr added: "A lot of thanks must go to everyone who worked really hard to get the pub open again."

"Special thanks to Joy Davenport who is the chairman of the committee. She is in her twenties and has worked really hard to pull everyone together."

the churches

With Nigel Speller

IN the past few days there has been no shortage of news and reports about churches and church people worldwide, to which I shall turn later. In the meantime, there is news locally of changes amongst Anglican clergy in east Devon.

Coming to join the parishes at Uplyme and Axmouth as Priest in Charge will be the Revd Gavin Tyte and his family who will live at Uplyme, and who are currently serving in the Diocese of Bath and Wells. He will be licensed to his new benefice at Uplyme church on Sunday, December 20th by the Bishop of Exeter.

Leaving east Devon a little later, in the new year, will be The Revd Nicholas Edwards, Rector of the Colyton Benefice, who has been appointed to be team rector of the West Exe benefice comprising the four churches of St Thomas the Apostle, St Andrew, Emmanuel and St Philip, in succession to their recently retired rector, Revd Alan White.

This group of parishes has a population of around 20,000, whereas Nicholas Edwards's present churches are about a quarter of that figure — but they are much more widely spread across the east Devon countryside.

Local events this week centre mainly on the traditional Remembrance Sunday services in all churches — although times vary, so do look out for posters and notices.

During these services, it is customary for the names of the fallen to be read out and for wreaths to be laid on war memorials. Many local communities also observe the two minutes' silence at the same memorials at 11am on November 11th.

At this season of remembrance, some will be interested to know that a new memorial is to be dedicated in the British Cemetery in Northern Cyprus commemorating all British casualties there prior to the grant of independence. The memorial will be dedicated by the Bishop of Cyprus and the Gulf, Michael Lewis.

St Michael's Church, Colyford, has its weekly prayers on November 6th at Elmwood (opposite the church). On the following day, November 7th, St Michael's is holding a market and coffee morning in the Colyford Memorial Hall from 11am to 2pm.

Branscombe church is holding a gospel service on November 15th at 6pm, when the Kroft Originals Gospel Choir will lead the singing.

Some readers will remember our report earlier this year of links with the churches in the Middle East, especially with St George's Church at Baghdad. There they have a priest whose weekly congregations usually exceed one thousand. The church has developed a clinic and provides other assistance to the worshippers. Sadly, in the past few days, the renewed suicide bombing clearly targeted the church and its facilities. The clinic and related facilities were destroyed and much damage was done to the church. Our prayers are needed for all those who have suffered and funds will be welcome towards the cost of repairing the damage. Call 01297 552942 for details.

While local church life in east Devon continues week by week in its traditional way, often untouched by issues which concern the bishops and synods, and not making the headlines, the past few days have been an exception. Following the decision of the General Synod of the Church of England in February last to move to the consecration of women as bishops, the church committee responsible for the detailed plans appears to have had second thoughts about some of the special arrangements. The suggested changes re-opened for the opponents of this policy the alternative of leaving the Anglican church and converting to Catholicism — which some clergy and lay people did when the initial change was proposed. To ease the passages of those wishing to make a change of church, Pope Benedict has offered a way out for those desiring to take this road. The new proposals appear to go further than previous offers in that provision is made for worshipping communities, parishes and even a single diocese to enter into communion with Rome, without sacrificing their own traditions.

Unfortunately, it appears the Archbishop of Canterbury, the leader of the worldwide Anglican church seemed stunned at the offer and is on record as saying that he only knew at a late stage. The effect of all these moves on the local churches will probably not be great and the work and worship will continue, but the existing alliance between low-church evangelicals and Anglo-Catholics may be less easy.

The effect on the Roman Catholic church may also be far reaching, in particular, over the Pope's signal of a readiness to extend further the welcome to married clergy. It is reported that this proposal is a leading cause of the collapse in the numbers of Europeans studying for the Roman priesthood. So while a road is being made easier for some Anglicans to convert to Catholicism, it seems fresh problems may well be created in Rome.

November 2009 is Pet Diabetes Month...

Diabetes is reported to affect up to 1 in 100 dogs and cats, and many experts believe that the disease is on the rise.

Nevertheless, in an online survey of pet owners, many respondents were unaware that pets can even get diabetes. Those that were aware were often unfamiliar with the signs and risk factors associated with the disease. The clinical signs to look for are excessive thirst, frequent urination, weight loss despite constant hunger or lethargy. If you have any concerns, or would like a general health check, then please make an appointment to see us.

Helen titled judges' best

A GREEN-FINGERED gardener from Fenny Bridges, near Honiton, was pipped to the post in the BBC Gardener of the Year competition.

Helen Brown was named as the judges' choice for the title but viewers voted for another woman from West Sussex.

Mrs Brown said: "The judges really seemed to like my container which was full of red and purple flowers. I think they especially liked the fact it was an all-season garden that would shine all year round."

"To me, being the judges' choice is even better than being voted the winner by the viewers who didn't have the chance to see my garden."

"The underlying point of entering was to raise the profile of my garden so it will attract lots of visitors when I open it to the public next year under the National Garden Scheme."

All money raised from admissions to the garden will be donated to charity.

The garden is at Little Ash Bungalow, Fenny Bridges. It will be open to visitors on June 6th and August 22nd next year.

Free senior swimming

SENIORS in Honiton will be able to take advantage of a free swim at the town's leisure centre.

On Sunday, November 15th, all over 60s will be able to swim free of charge at Honiton Swimming and Leisure Centre, during timetabled public swims. The move is part of Leisure East Devon (LED) Swim4Free programme. For more details visit www.ledleisure.co.uk.

£2M ROAD PROJECT

THE roads around Honiton are set to benefit from a share of a £2million improvement programme unveiled by Devon County Council.

Highway engineers have spent the past few months analysing safety inspections, road condition surveys and reports from the public to identify which roads would benefit most from a share of the funding.

Throughout the county 88 schemes, covering more than 80 miles of road, have been identified for an extensive programme of patching ahead of them being resurfaced in 2010.

Stuart Hughes, DCC cabinet member for Highways and Transportation, said: "This £2million of funding is not a quick fix, and it won't enable us to repair all of the roads across the county that may need some attention."

"It's not as simple as just throwing extra money at this problem and we have made sure we have taken time to assess the county's roads before making any fundamental decisions. I'm delighted that our highways teams have carried out a thorough examination of our road network and have carefully identified roads where we can have the most impact."

"We are targeting over 80 miles of Devon's extensive highway network, and by intervening now, this work will extend the life of these roads for up to another 10 years."

"These may not necessarily be the worst roads in Devon, but by getting them into a fit state for surface dressing we can cover a wider area and repair more roads than if we had just concentrated on a few."

More than £760,000 is being spent on the roads across east Devon, including Cotleigh, Feniton and Honiton.

The repair work will be undertaken in rural areas this autumn to prepare minor lanes for surface dressing next summer.

TONY JACKSON

Returning to our reality and readers' letters

FOR the past fortnight I have been in South Africa, spending a few days on the edge of the Kalahari to the south-west of Kimberley and then driving for seven hours to the Eastern Cape where the weather bore a strong resemblance to a wet, cold winter's day in England, a marked contrast to the Kalahari climate which sustained me with hot, blue sky days and temperatures in the mid thirties.

Now, having viewed a wide variety of plains game and birds, reptiles and insects, I have returned to reality and several readers' letters!

While in Africa, in camp, I watched hundreds of swallows and swifts, many of them native to Southern Africa, but a goodly number I imagine migrants from northern Europe. Extraordinary to think that I might even have seen the swallows which nested with us this summer and departed south so early this year.

One reader, Mr Hodson, from Seaton, has written to me to note that he observed a massive gathering of swallows and martins over Axminster on September 12th and watched hundreds of these birds flying over his garden each day, the last group of any note appearing on September 27th. He also, incidentally, had a visit from a moorhen to his garden pond and, as there are no lakes or rivers close, by wonders where it came from.

Certainly, the swallows departed very early this year and whereas I usually see hundreds preparing to leave in early October, this year their passports were stamped in late September. This year we had only two broods, whereas three have been known though it is unlikely that October young would survive.

Another reader, Heather Horlock, from Kilmington, tells me that she has seen several slow worms in her garden this year, slithering across the path and, she writes, into her pond. I just wonder, though, whether the water-bound reptile was, in fact, a grass snake. Slow worms do not usually take to water, whereas grass snakes are quite aquatic and readily hunt ponds for newts, frogs and tadpoles. Good to know that Heather has turned her garden into a wildlife sanctuary over a 20-year period and obviously attracts a variety of wildlife.

While I have been watching Kori bustards, secretary birds, Cape vultures, black eagles and a wide variety of LBJs (little brown jobs!), David Walters's latest newsletter tells me that an eider was seen off Beer Head, three Mediterranean gulls have been spotted, plus two great skuas and, to counter my comments above, 50-plus house martins were seen, again over Beer Head and two swallows were noted on October 28th. Otters, too, have been seen on Borrow Pit and Colyford Marsh and I suspect that numbers are steadily increasing along the Axe Valley river system.

Included in the newsletter is a fine photograph, taken by Sue Smith, of a fox trotting along with a rabbits in its jaws. She also snapped two pheasants, one a common ring-neck, the other a green pheasant, and wonders where it came from. In fact, this type of pheasant is bred and released on hundreds of shoots, as it is renowned for flying high and fast and is, as a result, popular with shooting men.

Here, at home, after a fortnight away I noticed how the leaves have turned russet red and yellow, though the strong winds and rain on Sunday night seems to have had little effect and the scenery is still autumnal. I do note, however, that the grass has not stopped growing and the lawns, trim when I went away, are now in urgent need of the mower. All we need is some sunshine!

LANTERN FUN

YOUNGSTERS enjoyed all the fun of Hallowe'en last week in two villages.

The Parent and Toddler Group in Membury held a coffee morning and Hallowe'en competition in the village hall on Saturday. The children dressed in costumes and made carved pumpkins, pictured above.

The youngsters in Dalwood got together for a Hallowe'en party on Wednesday evening.

Dressed in Hallowe'en costumes, they lit the village lanes as they carried their carved pumpkin lanterns and walked to the village hall for their party. They are pictured, right, at the top of the village as they set off.

THE BEST FOR QUALITY AND VALUE IN THE SOUTH WEST

Homes & Interiors

Alexander Paul

The team at Alexander Paul Antiques would like to invite readers of 'View From....' to visit our showroom at Fenny Bridges. At Alexander Paul we specialise in sourcing country style dining and coffee tables which are traditionally made of chestnut, oak and cherry. However we also carry a wide range of other styles of furniture and are often successful in sourcing specific pieces requested by clients. Our highly skilled restoration team are also available to work on your own pieces of furniture.

We are easy to find: first left off the west-bound A30 past Honiton, with plenty of on-site parking available.

Antique furniture represents extremely good value even when compared to most mass-market modern furniture, and a better investment than contemporary or reproduction furniture. Of course for most people the choice is an aesthetic one, having an appreciation for furniture with character that has developed through hundreds of years.

The subtle shades of colour, changes in texture and the faint smell of beeswax all create a superb sensory experience that anyone can enjoy.

Magazines that focus on 'interiors' and 'lifestyle' are writing features about the increasing number of discerning people who are buying pieces of antique furniture to place in more modern homes.

The juxtaposition of a well-chosen piece of antique furniture placed in a modern setting, where it can be discretely lit by spotlights, will often show the piece off to better advantage than in a more traditional setting. For example a beautiful aged and mellow farmhouse dining table and chairs will wonderfully soften the lines of a modern kitchen.

We look forward to meeting you and assisting in obtaining just the right piece of fabulous furniture for your home.

NJ Whittaker Ltd

NJ WHITTAKER remain very busy and are reassured by the number of enquiries they are still receiving. Although the reduction in VAT rate to 15% has been widely criticized as pointless anyone considering extending or renovating their property will save £ 250 for every £10,000 spent so for a bigger outlay there can be a significant saving. Combined with very competitive quotations from builders and historically low interest rates it has never been a better time to invest in your property providing you can get the funding.

HAVE YOU GOT A BUILDING QUESTION YOU NEED ANSWERED?

Each month on our Homes and Interiors feature we shall have a new helpful section with Nick Whittaker of N.J. Whittaker Ltd. in Honiton who is an experienced and fully qualified builder who will answer your questions. This can be anything from DIY queries, a query about new laws and regulations, to a dispute with a builder you have at the moment. Please either email your questions to kelly@pemedi.co.uk or post them to:

Kelly Baker, View From Publishing Ltd.,
Unit 3, St. Michael's Business Centre, Church Street, Lyme Regis, Dorset DT7 3DB.

A question will be picked out and answered each month

THIS MONTH'S QUESTION:

What green insulation material can I use to insulate my loft?

ANSWER:

Warmcel 100 is manufactured from fire-retarded recycled newspaper but is only suitable for loose filling lofts. Thermafleecce is manufactured from pure British Sheeps Wool. It is suitable for sloping ceilings and roof-slope insulation, as well as stud walls and dry lining.

An introduction to Fortnam Smith & Banwell - Seaton Branch

FSB origins date back over the last two decades, serving local communities along the West Dorset and East Devon Jurassic Coast.

The company has evolved and grown over the years significantly, having embraced the IT technology of the industry both in administration and marketing whilst maintaining traditional values amongst its sale professionals, offering in depth local and market knowledge, together with competitive rates. We now have offices at Charmouth, Lyme Regis and Seaton, with a Lettings and Commercial Department run from the Seaton office.

Our philosophy is to help find the right property for the right customer, assisting all to move home in as 'stress free' an environment as possible. Both the 'moving on' and 'moving in' process is achieved with the help of the team HIPS and Conveyancing service, together with strong links with local surveyors and solicitors. Our aim is to offer the highest quality service whether renting, buying or selling.

DIRECTOR/OFFICE MANAGER

Julie White manages the Seaton branch and has been working in estate agency for just over seven years and prior to estate agency, she worked in a legal environment for a local firm of solicitors and has five years experience of conveyancing and all property transactions. Julie undertakes all valuations and property inspections and also deals with the majority of sales chasing once a successful buyer is found for your property.

SENIOR NEGOTIATOR

Teresa Youens is our senior negotiator and has worked in estate agency for some 20 years. Her local and estate agency knowledge is unrivalled. Teresa carries out valuations, property inspections, accompanied viewings and deals with the daily negotiations ensuring that the best possible price is achieved for your property.

OFFICE ADMINISTRATOR/NEGOTIATOR

Lisa Marsden is our office administrator/negotiator and deals with the day to day running of the office, Lisa has been with our firm for just over two years now and she deals with the majority of the accompanied viewings and giving you regular feedback. Lisa has excellent communication/people skills and is always happy to assist. Lisa would also arrange to visit your property ensuring that she is familiar with all aspects of your home enabling her to deal with any enquiry we should receive.

COMMERCIAL DIRECTOR

Peter Fortnam is our commercial consultant. Peter has 30+ years experience in this department and consequently Fortnam Smith & Banwell have become one of the major commercial agents specialising in the East Devon and West Dorset region. We offer a wide range of commercial properties throughout the West Country, hotels, guest houses, shops, tea rooms, restaurants etc. We have unsurpassed knowledge of the local market

OVERSEAS DIRECTOR

Arthur Banwell is our overseas consultant. Arthur has 30 + years experience in estate agency and has excellent local knowledge and contacts, however more recently he has concentrated on the overseas housing market. We have contacts covering a large area including Spain, Turkey, Bulgaria, Cyprus etc. So if you are thinking of selling or buying a property abroad, Arthur will be able to assist you in the whole process.

PART TIME SALES ASSISTANT/SATURDAY LADY

Wendy Hayden is our part-time sales assistant and mainly works on Saturdays undertaking viewings, dealing with general enquiries and giving our vendors regular feedback. Wendy has been working with us for approximately five years and has gained excellent local and estate agency knowledge. Wendy would also arrange to visit your property ensuring that she is familiar with all aspects of your home enabling her to deal with any enquiry we should receive.

People losing the desire to own their own home, preferring to rent long term

Andrew Luxton MRICS FARLA, Partner in charge of Stags Residential Lettings Department indicates that a recent NAEA report confirms the increasing trend of people preferring to rent rather than own their own home.

The independent research specifically targeted City dwellers showing that one in four are losing the desire to own their own home. The recession, coupled with high house prices and lack of mortgage lending mean that across swathes of the country thousands of adults have given up owning a home. Undoubtedly the recession has left many people feeling that they can not get on to the property ladder but the recession alone can not shoulder the entire blame.

Whilst this is bad news for those wishing to sell a property it is good news for landlords and the Buy to Let market with the continuing strong demand from tenants across all rental sectors and areas likely to be maintained.

When considering the letting of your property or investing in a Buy To Let, it is important that the correct professional advice is sought and as a firm we are able to offer this throughout the South West region. For further details contact Stags on 01404 42553.

THE Ship Inn, Axmouth is run by licensee Ruth Hansford, Ruth took over the tenancy in June this year and with support from the tourists who visit the nearby caravan park and the locals she has had a great first season. STAG's success with Dolls House

I ALWAYS enjoy attending the productions of Shute Theatre and Arts Guild for at least a couple of reasons.

The first is because shows are well staged and enjoyable, and the second is that I find it of interest to see just how they manage to get the best out of the space available to them.

Shute Church has much going for it as a venue for plays but it is hardly main stream. As usual the actual staging of their latest play was of top quality.

Ibsen's play "A Doll's House" is set in the Norway of the 1880s, a time when women were tied to the marriage bed and the kitchen sink and were actively discouraged from having original thoughts and the ability to make decisions.

It deals with the relationship (or lack of it) between a husband who believes completely in the superiority of the male gender and who treats his wife as a cherished chattel, and a wife who has, in the past, gone outside the law to provide the wherewithal to save her husband's life and currently trying to repair the situation without his knowledge.

The part of benevolent despot Torvald Helmer was played exceedingly well by Richard Stenning. His clarity of diction was excellent in this large part and his condescending treatment of Nora, his wife, was realistic enough to set my teeth on edge. His supercilious snobbery was, of course, the root cause of his wife's problems. If his attitudes were typical of those of the era, (and they were) Norway must have been a pretty difficult place for a woman in Victorian times.

The decision of director Victoria Pearce that the role of his wife Nora should be played by two actresses was both a brilliant and a brave one and for this idea alone she should take a bow.

It worked well in practice too, although much of the credit for that should go to the people involved in her role.

Helena Laughton played Nora as her husband regarded her, a bright witless simpering plaything whose role in life was to be decorative, entertain him and his guests and give him babies.

Elina Baker portrayed her as how she wanted herself to be, a woman, ready to be decisive and to go outside the law if necessary, as she had done in days past, having made the decision that the end justified the means; and now being ready to deal with the consequences of her actions, whatever they were.

To describe the quality of the performance of either individual would be like trying to describe bacon without referring to egg. They dovetailed supremely well, their movements were well coordinated, with each taking prominence as the occasion demanded and the Jenkin pound of sausages would certainly be split two ways for the excellence of their joint performance.

John Currall played Nils Krogstad, the villain of the piece, showing great sinister malevolence, before his soft centre emerged, thanks in great part to the influence of his one time fiancé Kristine (Angela Perry) who, like himself, had fallen on hard times but was now looking for a way forward.

Initially I felt that the play could have managed well enough without the character Doctor Rank, competently played by David Clarke.

Subsequently though it seemed that this family friend probably started the train of thought in Nora's mind that led to her final decision, by treating her like an equal.

If these were the main players, there were others who played their part in making "A Dolls House" the success it most certainly was.

There was Helene the maid, played by Katie Forder; and nurse and governess Anne Marie (Louise Quincey) together with her charges, Emmy and Ivar, (Jasmine Pearce and Finn Quincey), he being prominent for his voluminous but appropriate Scandinavian headgear.

The rest of the costumes too certainly passed muster and did tend to mirror the personalities of the wearers.

The script of Henrik Ibsen does of course, stand very firmly on its own two feet. The way it was both portrayed and executed however was of high quality and made it one of the best local productions I have seen in recent times.

Ford marks new Fiesta success with first special edition

- New line-up broadens Ford Fiesta appeal
- New limited-edition – Ford Fiesta Titanium Individual

BRITAIN'S latest Fiesta celebrates its remarkable launch success with a new line-up and a new Titanium Individual special edition. The new line-up has six series and five engine options to choose from and broadens the Fiesta appeal to a wider range of consumers.

New line-up

The Fiesta range now consists of Studio, Edge, ECONetic, Zetec, Titanium and Zetec S models and with 1.25 petrol and choices of 1.4-litre petrol or diesel or 1.6 petrol or diesel engines.

Studio is where the Fiesta story starts and it now comes as either three or five door and with electric front windows as standard. The new Edge series has air conditioning as standard. For class-leading fuel economy and CO2 emissions, the Ford Fiesta ECONetic now also has air conditioning – without compromising the official combined cycle efficiency of 76.3mpg*. Zetec is likely to remain the most popular buyers' choice with high specifications as standard.

At the sporty end of the Fiesta line-up is the ever-popular Zetec S series where alloy pedals, sporty side skirts and Quickclear windscreen become standard.

The new Fiesta Titanium Individual offers a level of premium luxury rarely found in small cars while providing a saving of £100 over a similarly equipped Titanium model.

The Individual is available in six exterior colours with a special red interior. Added to that are 16in, seven-spoke alloy wheels, Bluetooth with USB and unique premium leather seats in red and silver.

Marketing Director, Ford of Britain, Mark Simpson said: "We have sold more than 100,000 Fiestas in its first year and we know our customers like to personalise their Fiestas. The new line up with the fabulous Individual special edition will help them achieve this." a ECONetic now also has air conditioning – without compromising the official combined cycle efficiency of 76.3mpg*. Zetec is likely to remain the most popular buyers' choice with high specifications as standard.

The Scirocco R and Golf R now available to order

VOLKSWAGEN has today confirmed pricing and specification for the most powerful and fastest accelerating derivatives of the Scirocco and Golf ever produced.

Developed by Volkswagen's special projects wing, Volkswagen Individual, prices for Scirocco R start at £26,945 on-the-road and £28,930 for the Golf R.

Fitted with a 2.0-litre TSI four-cylinder engine and a six speed manual gearbox as standard, the Scirocco R develops 265 PS and 258 lbs ft of torque while the Golf R produces 270

PS and 258 lbs ft of torque. A six-speed DSG gearbox is available as an option on both models from £1,300.

For the first time on an 'R' model, the Scirocco R channels power through the front wheels and is fitted with the XDS electronic cross-axle traction control system to ensure improved grip in all conditions. The Golf R, available in both three- and five-door bodystyles, uses a pre-charged hydraulic version of Volkswagen's 4MOTION four wheel drive system. This system can react quicker than previous 4MOTION systems while also limiting torque to maximise traction and minimise wheelspin.

The range-topping Scirocco accelerates from a standstill to 62 mph in 6.0 seconds, falling to 5.8 seconds when equipped with the DSG gearbox, while achieving a combined figure of 34.9 mpg (35.3 for DSG) and 189 g/km of CO₂ (187 for DSG).

The Golf R is the fastest accelerating Volkswagen ever produced, with a 0 to 62mph sprint taking just 5.7 seconds. As with the Scirocco, the DSG gearbox shaves a further two tenths of a second from this time. Despite this impressive performance, the Golf R returns 33.2 mpg on the combined cycle (DSG 33.6 mpg) and CO₂ emissions of 199 g/km (195g DSG). Both the Scirocco R and Golf R models have a top speed of 155 mph.

To set the 'R' models apart from a conventional Scirocco or Golf, both feature unique styling features. New front bumpers complete with LED running lights and a trio of deep airdams, Xenon lights which frame gloss black grille elements, gloss black wing mirrors, sill extensions and 18-inch five-spoke 'Talladega' alloy wheels housing gloss black 'R' callipers give the new models a purposeful look. Optional 19-inch alloy wheels in the same design are also available and, on the Golf R, these can be specified with a gloss black finish.

At the back, both models feature roof mounted spoilers and are fitted with twin exit exhausts; the Golf R's positioned in the centre of a gloss black diffuser and the Scirocco R's mounted on either side. Smoked rear light units, which on the Golf house high-intensity LED bulbs, further differentiate the R models.

Styling changes continue inside the cabins of both new models with new sports seats complete with 'R' logos, piano black and silver highlights, a new three-spoke black leather sports steering wheel with contrasting stitching and revised white backlit dials with subtle electric blue needles unique to the 'R' range. Vienna leather sports seats are available on both models and Recaro bucket seats can also be specified as an option on both the three- and five-door Golf R models.

Alongside the new addition to the Scirocco range, the power output in the 'standard' 2.0-litre TSI Scirocco GT has now been increased to 210 PS. This extra power reduces the sprint to 62 mph to 6.9 seconds for both the manual and DSG gearboxes, and top speed increases to 149 mph (147 DSG). Fitted with revised oil and cooling systems, the 210 PS unit also boasts improved fuel consumption of 38.2 mpg (was 37.2) and emissions of 172 g/km of CO₂ (was 179) over the engine it replaces.

The first examples of Volkswagen's most powerful hatchback and coupe are expected to arrive in showrooms in February 2010. For more information, visit your local Volkswagen Retailer or www.volkswagen.co.uk

DVLA EDUCATE DRIVERS!

DVLA Personalised Registrations is bracing itself for an onslaught of interest in its 10-series of registrations when they become available to view online at dvlaregistrations.direct.gov.uk on Monday, November 2.

The agency believes the series, which identify vehicles registered from March 1, 2010, will open up a whole new avenue of private plates and will go on sale on Tuesday, December 1.

Alarmingly, a recent survey showed despite being introduced in 2001, motorists are still unsure of the date recognition system within the current style of new vehicle registrations.

The poll, conducted by DVLA Personalised Registrations,

GB10 MAR

showed

only 17 per cent of the 1004 people correctly identified that the current "09" and "59" registrations, correlating to vehicles registered from March 1 and September 1 2009, will be superseded by 10 and 60 respectively.

Introduced in September 2001, the current style of registrations comprises two letters, a two figure age identifier, a space and three letters. Next year, 2010, will be recognised by 10 and 60.

When the current style came into force, motorists were informed that vehicles registered from March 1 each year would be recognised by the lower numerical series and those first on the road in September by the higher numerical figure - 2002 is highlighted by 02 and 52, 2003 by 03 and 53, 2004 by 04 and 54, 2005 by 05 and 55 and so on.

Damian Lawson, DVLA Personalised Registrations' Marketing Manager, said: "As sure as night follows day, 10 follows 9 and 60 follows 59 and yet, incredibly, our survey has shown a vast majority of those motorists we quizzed could not answer our question asking what new registrations follow our 09 and 59 series in 2010."

2010 sees new vehicle registrations progress to 10 in March and 60 in September. 10 series personalised registrations can be viewed online from November 2nd at dvlaregistrations.direct.gov.uk

Volvo XC60 DRIVE drives down running costs for company car drivers

- Improved residual values
- Volvo XC60 DRIVE falls below the all-important 160g/km Writing Down Allowance threshold and offers up to 47.1 mpg
- Standard City Safety technology helps drivers to avoid low-speed collisions - keeping repair bills to a minimum

THE Volvo XC60 DRIVE is ideal for company car drivers who want all the benefits of a comfortable, raised driving position, but like the idea of lower tax and fuel consumption benefits of two-wheel-drive.

CAP recently upgraded its residual value predictions now that it has spent some time behind the wheel of the Volvo XC60 DRIVE estimating the trade price of a 2.4D DRIVE SE at 40% (£10,525) of its cost-new price after three years and 60,000 miles. Add roughly 15% to the trade value and you have a retail value which would be an estimated £14,597.

With the DRIVE model fitting in neatly below the crucial 160g/km tax band at 159g/km, its Benefit in Kind and Vehicle Excise Duty credentials are strong. A 20% tax payer will pay less than £100 per month (£97.83) and a 40% tax payer £195.75 per month. Annual road tax is £150.

The Volvo XC60 joined the DRIVE range in summer 2009 to become the first premium Crossover to fall below the all-important 160g/km Writing Down Allowance threshold for company cars. The introduction of front-wheel drive and the new 2.4D engine to the XC60 saw CO2 figures tumble to 159 g/km and fuel economy improve to 47.1 mpg.

"When we first discussed the concept of what has become XC60 DRIVE with the residual value guides and larger fleets 18 months ago, about 40% weren't convinced there was a market for a front-wheel-drive premium Crossover. Since then, you could say the world has changed, and most have changed their minds. Residual value predictions have increased which has led to lower monthly contract hire rentals and more fleets adding it to their company car choice lists," explained John Wallace, National Corporate Strategy & Development Manager at Volvo Car UK.

"No other car offers this combination of equipment, dynamic looks, safety and environmental prowess, at the same time offering great fuel economy and lower CO2 figures. The awareness of DRIVE across all models in the Volvo range has increased enormously and in a recent Fleet News survey regarding familiarity of green car brands, DRIVE jumped up into fourth position - up from eleventh place in 2008," he added.

All XC60 models, including DRIVE, come as standard with Volvo's award-winning City Safety system, which helps drivers to avoid low-speed collisions, reducing the risk of injuries such as whiplash and keeping bodywork repair bills to a minimum Forget the vibrant golds and yellows you would expect to see this Autumn in the South Wales Valleys and think more of black and grey drifting rain clouds.

It was a soaking for runners, marshals and spectators at this year's Tour of Torfaen Half Marathon, a point to point undulating and twisting road course from Baenavon to Cwmbran Athletic Stadium.

It's a very scenic course with an easy first two miles and there was a great atmosphere at the finish with a crowded stadium and a live band. With much of the race into a blustery headwind Richard Hale was pleased and relieved to finish in a brilliant 1:34.

On Sunday we all woke to wind and rain, and five Axe Valley Runner Juniors probably dreaded the thought of having to leave their lovely warm beds to go and run an "undulating" Cross Country event.

Well they did, and in the end the weather turned out dry for the first of the East Devon Junior Cross Country events which was hosted by Honiton Running Club at Morganhayes, near Colyton.

The U13 boys race was won by Harry Felgate, who was closely followed by a not-feeling-very-well big sister Layla, Mollie Hansford and Lydia Clapp, who took second, third and fourth girl positions. In the U17 boys event Matthew Morbey flew through the mud and puddles to come in an impressive second place. A big thank you to the Forestry Commission, Honiton Running Club, Leacroft Camp Site, and of course our own Garry Perratt.

Water also affected the Ilminster 10K leaving wet and flooded roads. This didn't seem to have any effect on Luke Scott of Taunton AC who won the race in 34.32. Luke Reed finished 1st AVR, fifth overall in 38.15 and also picked up a trophy for the 3rd male aged 21-39. Dominic Schneiders had his first outing for a couple of months and was very happy to finish in 41.30.

Steve Reynolds and Geoff Woodward also decided to have a go at this rather unfamiliar short distance compared to what they have been used to in recent times, with Geoff finishing in around 46 and Steve finishing around 49 minutes. Harry Moore still completed in 84 mins.

Graham Newton ran the Templer multi-terrain race which has two miles on road then five miles through fields and paths around Stover Park and along the Templer Way starting and finishing at The Passage House Inn, Kingsteignton.

The weather was quite bad to start and although it cleared up later there was still a lot of water on the course. The race was won in 55 minutes and Graham ran exceedingly well to finish 2nd in the over 60s category in 1.11.07 for which he was presented with a lovely bottle of red wine.

Seven AVR's turned to the dark side on Friday night, running the Darksides of the Wobble, a 12-mile multi-terrain route from Honiton golf club down the Coly Valley to Seaton.

Much fun was had on the balmy evening with happy running and three fordings of the river. Only one of these was strictly necessary but it's hard to pass by Heathayne without enjoying a brief splash and at least their legs were nice and clean for the foray into the Gerrard Arms for a very nice pickled partridge. And then there were six, one having had to return directly home from Colyton.

The happy half dozen continued on down to Axmouth for another brief spell of fluid refreshment before five finished on Seaton Esplanade for the excellent post-run refuelling mix of doner, chips and beer. Roll on the Midwinter Dream.

INDOOR BOWLS NEWS

AXMINSTER: THE men have had a bad fortnight, losing both Over 60's matches and their County Trophy match at Torquay.

Their first Over 60s game against Budleigh ended in a narrow 74-86 defeat with only David Harris, Philip Stephens, Tony Isted, and Norman Denslow managing a win (22-10) but against Mid Devon all rinks lost in a 47-106 thrashing. Likewise in the County Trophy we came very much second-best to a young, mainly International, side in Torquay who won 40-130 with Jenkin, Frank Bridge, Bob Sherborne, and Eric Skeemer (22-17) sparing our blushes somewhat.

In the mixed friendlies we enjoyed some success. Despite losing narrowly at Padbrook Park (55-57) with a best rink of Jean Bruckshaw, Cliff Bruckshaw, Bob Sherborne, and Margaret Crompton (26-16) and at Budleigh (22-53) where both rinks lost we came back strongly with home wins over the Nomads (63-48) with Ann Clayton, Betty Hudson, Joyce Copp, and Margaret Crompton (19-11) playing well and Chard (67-42) with Les Monk, Chris Todd, Joyce Copp, and Eric Skeemer (32-8) on top form. Our final home game against Chardstock ended in a thrilling tie (57 all) with Lilian Lovatt, Pam Hunter, Frank Lintott, and Margaret Crompton (25-17) excelling.

HONITON: The Indoor season is in full swing now with lots of friendly and competitive matches being played.

First bad news on the Champion of Champions run from Trevor Pipe he lost his last match to Nathan Farrant of the Exonia Bowling Club so that's the end of his run this year. However in another National Competition Lynda and Steve Dommett beat Eileen Rich and Chris Bond, that's Ian's brother, in the National Mixed pairs so that's a feather in their cap.

Our away friendly matches seem to be proving a problem two Saturdays ago at Taunton Vivary we lost 36-66 however the Jenny Wilde, Pat Whitworth, Roger Willcocks and Bernard Tonkin rink did win 22-15 the other 2 lost heavily.

The next Saturday away at Donyatt, another loss of 47-57 with all four rinks going down. In fairness we did have a Pines Gardens home match that day as well so our resources were stretched.

We did win at home, but by only eight shots, not that good really. It should have been like shooting ducks on a pond, after all they are an Outdoor Club.

Sunday was better with a home win against the South Dorset Bowls Association of 98-47. All four rinks won, three at plus 13 and one at plus 12.

But problems again away to Madeira on the Monday with another defeat of 38-71 all three rinks losing.

Our Men's competitive Side fell a bit flat last Saturday. After their good win against Sidmouth in the Denny Plate they were taught a lesson by the Mid Devon side. In the first match of the County Trophy series they lost three rinks to one, with good old reliable Steve Dommett's rink of Fred Cowey, Mike Dart and Mike Sellick the only winners, that's only two points from 12.

Not much better in the second leg of the Denny Plate on Saturday. We were up against South Hams. We won two and lost two but lost the match by 8 shots. This is a knockout competition so that ends our 2009 run. Wednesday the Oover 60s did a bit better with a County Trophy win over Padbrook Park of four shots, one rink winning and one losing both home and away. Honiton took 8 of the 12 points available so a good start.

The ladies, are far more reliable although they had to work hard to beat Madeira in the Yetton on Thursday.

The two home teams started one hour before those away and won one and lost one standing at nine shots down. The away teams knew what had to be done. Carol Fishers rink had drawn at 18-18 so on the last end Julie Grant's team of Rosemary Hiron, Pearl Hackwood and Joan Heard were ahead by seven making a deficit of two shots to make up. When Joan went to the mat she was down some shots. She moved the jack but was still one down. Julie drove the shot out to leave them the 2 they needed.

The match now stood at 71 all but for this competition you must choose a rink to play the extra end before the match starts. Fortunately the home winning rink of Corrine Galinski, Chris Nex, Rita Barwick and Brenda Harris had been chosen, they had already played the extra end and won by one shot so the Honiton girls had won the match by that shot.

HONITON
with Paul Dimond
Seniors Section

SERIOUS golf was played this week in the Seniors monthly medal.

Having become accustomed to the mild weather in the past weeks the cold windy weather was something of a shock.

It was however to the liking of Mike Watts who finished with a net 66 in Division One to take the first prize and glass jug. He was also rewarded with two shots removed from his handicap. Second was John Egerton who at over 80 years of age put many younger members to shame with a net 68, playing off a handicap of 15.

Third was Angus Falconer with the lowest gross score of the day and a net 69 followed by new vice-captain Bill Nicholls with a nifty 70 and Geoff Filtress on 71. In Division Two Don Leach took the honours on countback with a net 70 followed by John Foster, John Rawlings on 72 and Bob Milton and Ron Moss both on 73.

Ladies Section

Wednesday the Ladies played a Shotgun start 18 holes Bowmaker competition for Children in Need. Most of the entry fee was donated and a raffle was organised which together raised £180 for the Children in Need.

Only one prize was given and this was won by Lady Vice-Captain Elizabeth Ward, Past Lady Captain Olive Pope and Majan Stroud with a score of 75 pts.

Mixed Golf

THE monthly Mixed Greensomes playing for the goblets, drawn for partners, was played in beautiful autumn sunshine on Tuesday. The winners of the goblets this month with 35 pts were Andrea and Stan Squire. Second place went to Rosemary Whiteley and John Frith 33 pts, third were Jane Watts and Paul Ritchie 32 pts.

Whilst Elizabeth Ward and Mike Watts 30 pts on c/back earned fourth place.

HONITON HORNETS HOCKEY

HHHC 3 Chard 6

AS this past weekend was a non-League weekend a friendly match was organised between Chard and Honiton with Honiton playing the match away at Chard.

The Honiton girls found themselves under attack from the opening whistle and had a couple lucky escapes and some excellent goal keeping from Sue Stone, who had a fine match throughout.

Eventually the 11 players settled down as a team, and it fell to Honiton's Becky Bond to open the scoring with a neatly diverted ball across the goal line. Honiton's lead did not last long as the home side soon equalised and added a further goal which came following an unfortunately deflected ball off a Honiton defender's stick. However, not long after Bond again was in the position to score and did so to level the match once more.

Chard went on the attack once again and added three further goals - the final one of which was as a result of the awarding of a penalty flick due to an infringement on the goal line by a defender, which was successfully converted by the taker of the flick.

In the second-half play continued to be generously moved around the pitch as each side tried to add to its scoreline.

In fact, both sides scored again with Honiton's Sophie George finding the backboard following a penalty corner pass from Jean Herniman.

So at the final whistle Chard emerged with a 6-3 victory. Although it was a pity the gap between the two sides was a little on the wide side, the result was a good one for Honiton considering most of the Chard players were from its 1st XI which plays in a higher league than Honiton, and the game itself was played in very good, if competitive, spirits.

Player of the Match: Sue Stone

● Practices continue with ECVH at Cullumpton Sports Centre on Tuesday evenings. Training takes place between 8:00pm - 9:30pm, with transport being arranged from Dowell Street Car Park at 7:30pm.

Rugby round-up with Keith Jenkin

SHIRTSLEEVES were again the order of the day on Saturday last when the short straw was drawn by Chard, and I trotted off to the Denning Field on the occasion of the club's vice presidents' luncheon to take in their Somerset Premier League game against Chew Valley, which the home side won comfortably 34-10.

SIDMOUTH 23pts TORQUAY ATHLETIC 26pts

SIDMOUTH would have been both disappointed with this result, but more disappointed that it was their lack of discipline that contributed to it. They started the game most positively and came close to scoring on several occasions, but conceded a penalty after 15 minutes and the Torquay kicker made them pay.

They continued to fall foul of authority however and Dare was sent to the bin about the end of the first quarter. In his absence Torquay scored twice. Their first score came via the boot and subsequently a break through the centre resulted in an unconverted try, touched down by their full back.

Sidmouth were by no means out of it though and responded with an unconverted try of their own. Tom Whelan set up the position by chasing his own kick ahead and tackling the full back in possession. Sidmouth recycled and, after the ball had passed through several pairs of hands, it was gathered by Hannay some fifteen yards out and he crashed over.

Torquay then responded in turn and, after they had gone through the phases close to the home line, their hooker found a gap and scored from close range. This took the score to 5-16 at the halfway stage, leaving Sidmouth with much to do.

Sidmouth started the second-half as they had done the first. They needed to score first and did so with a try by substitute Jack Pyne after a Dixon break had set the position. The try remained unconverted but a Channing penalty goal brought Sidmouth right back into the game at 13-16. Both kickers exchanged penalty goals midway through the half and, at 16-19 with 15 minutes left, nothing was resolved. At this juncture, Hannay and Trim combined on the narrow side of a scrum and put wing Seward away.

He made good ground and his inside offload found his scrum half in support who touched down out wide. Channing's successful conversion from the widest of angles gave his side hope, for it took them out of penalty goal range.

Alas! It was not enough, for a lapse in the home defence gave the Torquay midfield a chance that they took. Their outside centre broke cleanly and ran to the full-back before putting his own full back in at the corner. This try too was converted and Sidmouth now needed a try if they were to win. They could not get one and were left ruing their earlier lapses.

TOTNES 27pts HONITON 8pts

HONITON, who are in the process of rebuilding and who have a very considerable injury list were, perhaps not surprisingly, found wanting in certain areas at top of the table Totnes who did the basics well.

In fact it was Honiton who took the lead when Nex landed a penalty goal but they fell behind to a converted try after the home side had kicked a penalty award to the corner and mauled their way over.

It was indeed the maul, often used by Totnes, that was a deciding factor in the game, for Honiton found difficulty combating it and the home side increased their lead by mauling the ball over the Honiton line later in the half. They added the extras to this try and led 14-3.

Having said that, Honiton had their moments in the first period. Both Samson and de Large went close and eventually Dobson got over in the corner after a Samson break and, although the try remained unconverted, Honiton were well in the mix at the halfway stage at 14-8 in arrears.

From that position at the break, a side really needs to score first in the second-half. Honiton could not do so and, furthermore, conceded several penalties, two of which were converted. They made a few handling errors too at twelve points in arrears, that prevented them utilising the chances that came their way.

They suffered a sin binning too and, whilst Doige was thus employed, Totnes worked a dummy scissors inside the Honiton half and, although the move was checked just short they pushed the seven man Honiton pack over their line.

They converted the try too, thus putting daylight between the sides and held in for the win, leaving Honiton frustrated that they had not given of their best on the day.

EXETER SARACENS 2nd 32pts HONITON 2nd 14pts

THE Honiton second side were well beaten by the second team of a club that is flying high at the moment. After a bright start they fell behind after the home side had taken a try penalty quickly and got over for an unconverted try.

The packs were evenly matched but the home side tended to be quicker to the loose ball and, having won possession, recycled it well. They scored three more unconverted tries before the half time whistle and led 20-0 at this stage.

Honiton started the second half well and imposed pressure on the Saracens' defence. It paid off too for in the third quarter they crossed the home line twice through Adrian Wilson who was on hand to take advantage of the good work done by his colleagues and who proved to be unstoppable from eight feet. McGrath converted both tries and, at 20-14 in arrears, Honiton had cause to hope.

It was to no avail however. Saracens replied with an unconverted try and, at the last, ran in a converted effort to complete the scoring and to stretch away to a comfortable win.

HONITON JUNIORS

HONITON COLTS 34pts

EXETER SARACENS COLTS 3pts

HONITON played up the slope at Allhallows in the first half against a rather large visitors' outfit and took an early lead with a good try by Man of the Match Adam Dawson.

They continued to have the better of things and three further tries came before the break. Josh Wood scored two of them and Ollie Hyland also got on the score sheet. George Meadows converted one and, although Saracens replied with a penalty goal, Honiton appeared to be comfortably placed at 22-3 ahead at the halfway stage.

All should have been plain sailing now for they had the slope in their favour in the second-half. Truthfully they did not play as well as they had done in the first period, suffering a little from white line fever on occasion.

Two further tries came however, with prop Isaac Dalton scoring one and Josh Wood getting over for his hat trick. Meadows converted the Wood try to complete the scoring, and to take Honiton to a win that they will certainly value.

TEIGNMOUTH U 13s Nil

HONITON U 13s 5pts

This Honiton under 13 side is certainly a very useful one and they had rather too much pace and ability for their Teignmouth counterparts. Richard Webb led the way with no less than six tries in this very comfortable win.

Connor Long scored twice and Sean Summers once. Man of the Match Isaac Eigh picked up a loose ball on his own twenty two and showed a clean pair of heels to the opposition while running 75-yards and touching down between the posts. Ben Kidson kicked two conversions and Richard Webb one, to complete the scoring.

NORTH PETHERTON U 15/16s 54pts

HONITON U 14/15s Nil

HONITON fell foul of a slight mix up in the age groupings and found themselves facing opponents who were both bigger and faster. They stuck at it well in defence but found it difficult to stem the more or less continual attacks of their opponents.

PREVIEW

IT is difficult to know just what to say about HONITON'S opponents on Saturday next. BUCKFASTLEIGH RAMBLERS have not won a game in the Devon League North and East Division so far this season. In fact they have been soundly beaten every game.

The Allhallows brigade travelled to play them on the first league Saturday of the campaign and won by some seventy points, if memory serves, and, while they may not win by such a margin this time, I will be surprised if they are not well and truly out of sight by time the whistle for no side sounds.

SIDMOUTH face a much more stringent task when they visit AVONMOUTH OLD BOYS. This side was promoted to the South West League Division One some eighteen months ago. It had settled comfortably into the top half of the division by last season's end, and the early signs are that it will be there or thereabouts again by the end of this campaign, for it plays controlled rugby and its halfbacks have good kicking games.

The results from the Blackmoor have been more encouraging in recent weeks but they will certainly have to pull out all the stops if they are to return from Bristol with a "W" in the results column. The Sidmouth second side will really not know just what they will face at home where Exeter University are the visitors in a friendly encounter; while the Sidmouth third side will be assured of a hard game at Barnstaple thirds where they are joined by Sidmouth Colts.

Honiton seconds do generally have to find a bit when they take on opponents Exmouth thirds, while, if the Honiton Colts side is at full strength, it should run out winners at Torrington.

FOOTBALL RESULTS, FIXTURES AND TABLES

Devon & Exeter League

Premier leaders Sidmouth Town came through one of their toughest tests so far as they edged Exeter University 3-2. Andy Thompson's brilliant late header off the college crossbar won it for the vikings when it appeared they had given it away. First half goals from Mark Badcock and Dan Norman had Sidmouth in the driving seat, but they conceded just after half-time and the students managed to level it with ten minutes remaining. Thommo then came up with his matchwinner and the leaders held out.

Second place Topsham Town beat Wellington 5-1 having knocked them out of the cup last week. Double strikes from Ace High and Tim Rivetts did most of the damage with Charlie Cox completing the scoring. Oliver Nott had the Wellington goal but they faded badly after a good opening spell.

Thorverton went on a goal feast against Budleigh Salterton winning 7-0. The robins were short-handed but that took little away from a thors outfit that meant business. Lee Riggs with a hat-trick, two goal Scott Laskey, Lawrence Khoo and Paul Campbell had the thors goals.

St Martins edged struggling Feniton 1-0 and felt they were on a day when they could not get their game together. The only goal from Ross Parker was a scorcher, but Saints blotted their copybook when they had Kevin Pike sent off.

The only draw in the top division was 2-2 at Hatherleigh Town where Alphington shared the points after being two goals down. Simon James and Dean Rice scored for the North Devon side, but they contrived to let the game slip and Alphington found a way back.

Division 1 leaders Heavitree Social Utd had to settle for a 1-1 draw at Bow AAC and reckoned it was as close as the scoreline indicates.

Beer Albion enjoyed a 4-0 victory at home to Elmore who continue to prop up the table. James Melville 2, Luke Bartlett and Mike Wheeler found the net for the fishermen.

Halwill won 3-1 against Broadclyst and their good run goes on. Chris Barkwill with a stunning volley, Andy Winsor with a penalty and Andy Wonnacott scored for Halwill. Dean Voaden replied with a penalty.

Sidbury Utd beat Culm Utd 3-0 but took a while to get on top. Parris Pinnie had the first Sidbury goal, Chris Anning the last two.

Tipton St John had their unbeaten record in Division 2 blown away by ten man Honiton Town. Tipton had fought back after being outplayed from 2-0 to 2-2, then Honiton endured a red card but still came up trumps. Sam Farmer, Mike Foster and Dan Brown with the winner for Honiton.

Witheridge beat Axminster Town 5-2 their first win against the tigers in four years.

MATCH REPORTS

Seaton 2 East Budleigh 1

THE young Seaton team put in a mature and patient performance against a big strong and experienced side. Both teams played some good football with Budleigh being the better team in the first-half with Seaton's defence of Morgan, Perham, Wyatt and Fellingham having to be in good form, equally Keeper David Perham had to be at his best to keep the lively Budleigh forwards at bay, who were marshalled by the outstanding Spencer West.

The second-half saw Seaton beginning to get a foothold in the game with wing-back Fellingham caused problems with his forward play and influential midfielder Ben Ede starting to find more space as the visitors began to tire.

Home strikers Vere and Groves came close on numerous occasions, however it was the introduction of Devon U18 Striker Joe Byrne on the half hour mark that gave the greens the lead, heading home a cross from his Devon U18 team mate Josh French.

Five minutes later Budleigh were level when they deservedly found a way past the green's defence.

With time ticking away East Budleigh were going for the win and this created space at the back which the superb French kept exposing, with four minutes on the clock Ritchie Durrant, who was rested due to being invited to attend England schools trials on Sunday, came on for Vere and with his first and only touch, tucked away an undefeatable cross from Birthday boy French to give the greens a hard fought victory.

A mention must go to referee Viv Cooke who both teams felt was exceptional

Man Of The Match: Josh French

Colyton 8 Topsham Town 1

GOALS from Richard Tratt (4), Callum Somers, Simon McClelland, Mike cullum and Ed Busby earned Colyton a stunning win over previously unbeaten Topsham Town.

found themselves 1-0 down in the 18th minute when a defensive mistake down the left hand side let in winger Stuart Bowker whose cross was met by striker Dan Broadway.

Alex Wheatly had a good effort just skim the bar but another defensive mistake let in Bowker for the visitors second in the 25th minute.

Ten minutes later goalkeeper Chri Higgs was adjudged to have brought down a player in the box and a penalty was awarded. Up stepped Bowkerbut his spot-kick brought out an excellent save from.

In the second-half the Tigers game improved with striker Sam Dibling having two efforts just off target, and midfielder Michael Beer hitting the post.

But it was Liverton who scored again in the 60th minute when Ben Vine tripped a Liverton player in the box and Steven Mason made it 3-0 from the resulting penalty.

Axminster pulled a goal back 10 minutes from time when Shane England headed past his own keeper Man-of-the-Match: Chris Higgs. Tigers Team, Higgs, Gage (Mike Hancock 60), Galloway, Mark Hancock, Cowling (Challis 65) Vine, Beer, Highett, Wheatly, Dibling, Gosling.

DAISY HUTCHINGS CUP

ROUND TWO

LYME Regis Reserves put a miserable run of Division One form behind them as they knocked out neighbours Uplyme 4-1 at Venlake. Player-manager Gerard Hitchcock put Lyme ahead with a deft near post flicked header. But Division Two Uplyme put in a plucky first-half showing and levelled through Gavin Fowler within a minute.

Lyme created the better chances but the woodwork came to the aid of keeper Lloyd Cleal and his defence on a couple of occasions. The Seaside restored their lead on the hour with the goal of the game – a superb 25-yarder from Luke Street that flew into the top corner.

The win was finally sealed when Street completed his first ever hat-trick with two goals in injury-time.

Street and midfielders Dave Turner and Darren Poole were the pick of the visitors, whilst Cleal and new signing Gary Marriott put in a good shift for the Swallows.

PREMIER

THERE were no real upsets in the top Division on a day when the title chasers all showed their goal scoring credentials.

A stunning volley from Adam Caddy was the highlight of Lyme Regis' 5-0 hammering of Merriott Rovers.

Caddy met a throw-in on the full to smash home the third from the corner of the penalty area as the Seaside sailed into the interval 4-0 up. Earlier, a first goal in England for new French midfielder Julien Simier and Rob Thomson had given Lyme a foothold they never looked likely to relinquish. Thomson completed the first half rout. Danny Prendeville scored the only goal of the second period as the hosts extended their winning run to seven matches.

Ilminster Town Reserves kept their first clean sheet of the season in beating Charmouth 6-0 at Barrs Lane.

Charmouth manager Mike Walton was bitterly disappointed with his team's performance, he said: "We've steadily improved in the past few weeks and I felt we had our strongest squad so far this season, but we were terrible."

DIVISION ONE

FAREWAY United returned from Ilminster Town Colts clutching a point after a 2-2 draw.

The Devonians had the better to the first 45 and took the lead through a James Salter header but couldn't press home their advantage and Craig Stuckey pulled Colts level before the interval.

Colts took control after the restart and took the lead six minutes from time through Dan Vining. But there was still time for Salter to grab his second and salvage a point when all three looked on the cards earlier in the day.

DIVISION TWO

MILLWEY Rise extended their lead at the top to nine points following an impressive 4-1 win at second-placed Norton Athletic.

Mark Vaughan gave Rise a slender half-time lead with a fine header for his sixth goal of the season. Adam Whitehouse and an own goal sent the visitors away and clear midway through the second period before Paul Churchill netted his ninth of the current campaign to give the Norts some hope.

But it was short lived as Marc Jenkins added a fourth for Millway while well-served by their mid-field trio of Callum Garrett, Ashley Phillips and Michael Knight.

DIVISION THREE

THE blossoming strike partnership of Glenn Harding and Tim Hussey clicked again as Hawkchurch returned from the long trip to Fivehead United with all three points after a 5-1 win.

Hussey moved up to 14 goals with a hat-trick whilst Harding moved into double figures with his brace.

Crewkerne Rangers are locked with the Hawks at the top of the table. Rangers' impressive form continued with a 3-0 win over Shepton Reserves. Andy Loveless, Scott Isaacs and Harvey Perrin shared the goals.

Millway Rise Reserves climbed a massive six places to third with a 4-2 win over Luso-Chard at First Avenue. Levi Hoole, Mark Pike, Keith Forsey and Gary Venn scored for the Slopers with Cleo Franco netting both for the visitors.

DIVISION FOUR

HAWKCHURCH Reserves' first clean sheet for 39 matches helped clinch a well-deserved 3-0 win over Charmouth Reserves.

Mark Glanville and Adam Pearce put the Hawks on their way with two first-half goals and Stuart Weir put the icing on a superb all-round team performance midway through the second-half.

The win sees Hawkchurch up to ninth with the Robins, without a win since the opening day, sinking fast.

Honiton Netball League

with Graham Ingram

Results: Division One: Keeley's Angels 52 Complete Meats 12, Flamingos A 51 Tip Top Trees Oaks 9, Wasps 36 Bo-Peeps 21.

FLAMINGOS A continued their run at the top of the table thanks to a very convincing win against Tip Top Trees, who were outplayed from the first whistle.

With Karen Hall in great form for the Flamingos they stormed into a 14-1 lead at quarter time before moving 26-4 in front by half way. Although the Oaks worked hard, with Melanie Carter catching the eye for them, the Flamingos were on fire and continued to dominate the play, so that at the start of the final period they led by 41-7, running out winners by 51-9.

Although Flamingos A have a four point lead at the top the second placed side, Keeley's Angels, have two games in hand and are the only 10 per cent team in the league. Tonight they were up against the bottom placed side Complete Meats. The Angels started as though they meant business and by quarter time led by a comfortable 13-1. In the second period they once again scored 13 goals and led the Meats by 26-4. Although Complete Meats improved their scoring in the last two quarters they could not compete with Keeley's who ran out winners by 52-12.

Wasps made it three wins in a row when they beat Bo-Peeps. Although Bo-Peeps had only won one of their previous games they have managed to gain a point from each of their other games, and tonight was no exception. Wasps started the stronger and led 9-5 at the end of the first period. With Nicola Field in fine form for them they gained more control in the second period to lead 21-10 at half way and then start the final period 31-15 in front. At this stage it looked as though Bo-Peeps would be denied a point, but with Debbie Wheeler doing well for them they outscored Wasps in the final quarter.

Flamingos B 31 Lyme Bay 16, Sidmouth Toucans 32 Met Office Weather Girls 32. FLAMINGOS B moved back to the top after beating the improving Lyme Bay, who unfortunately were down to six players.

Nevertheless they made Flamingos work hard for their points with their skipper Vicki Pearce playing a fine captain's role. At quarter time there were only two goals in it with Flamingos 7-5 up. Lyme Bay were holding up well, so well in fact that Flamingos were just 13-9 up at half way. The third period proved crucial as Lucy Broad got her shooting eye in at GA for Flamingos and they went 22-12 up before ending the game victors by 31-16.

The Met Office Weather Girls entered their game against Sidmouth Toucans with three wins from three games behind them. Tonight they faced their sternest test to date. The first period was close with Weather Girls shading it by 7-6. In the second quarter period Toucans, with Anna Cloke playing well again, took the game to the Met Office and blew into a 17-14 lead. They maintained the pressure in the third quarter so that at the start of the final session Sidmouth were 27-21 up. The Weather Girls staged a comeback and the game could have gone either way but a 32-32 draw was the outcome with two points apiece for the teams.

CMC Birds were unable to field a side for their game against JD Tyres and so under league rules the three points were awarded to the Tyres and CMC were deducted three points. In line with the rule change at the AGM the score was decided by previous encounters between the sides and so JD Tyres were awarded a 50-3 victory.

YOUTH FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

Colyton U14s 9 Exmouth Juniors 1

COLYTON took on Exmouth Juniors at home in a very one-sided game. Charlie Stephenson hit the crossbar twice. Colyton goal scorers were: Matthew Cann (2), Seth Wakely, George Richards (2) and David Laramy (4). A fairly uninteresting game but for a great penalty save by Colyton's goalkeeper Jake Phillips.

Feniton Flames 4 Colyton U10s 4

FENITON Flames and Colyton U10s finally commenced play after an hour's delay due to bad weather.

Captain, and Man-of-the-Match, George Kimber opened his account for the Flames after 10 minutes, but Colyton held their resolve and stole a goal just two minutes later. It was Henry Mutter who put the home side back in the lead with two excellent strikes just three minutes apart. What might have seemed a foregone conclusion to this contest was anything but.

In the second-half, although Kimber struck again, Colyton stormed through the Feniton defence on no less than four occasions in the second-half, the last goal in the dying moments of extra time. It was a hard fought contest, the draw being a fitting result.

The Feniton Flames fielded a slightly depleted squad, which also included an improved William Daly, a valiant Jack Ellison in goal with Andrew Mortimer, Charlie Olive, Jake Burgess and Albert Southall-Brown.

The Flames travel to Honiton on the November 18th for a titanic return visit.

Seaton Town A 1 Exmouth Amateurs 2

SAM Sparks, making his debut, put Seaton ahead early on. At the other end goalkeeper Ricky Littley made some fine saves to keep his side in front at the break.

Aided by the strong wind Exmouth soon levelled after the restart and scored what proved to be the winner when the Seaton players lost concentration after a handball appeal.

Man of the Match for Seaton was Will Campbell.

IT was the turn of the evening teams this week, presumably getting them cleared before Halloween.

Beer and Awliscombe both won 5-3, Beer away from home, and both coincidentally gained exactly enough shots to cancel out the deficit from their first matches.

In the second division Sidford travelled to Awliscombe, shared the points and stay in the top place, while Seaton Cliff won 6-2 at home.

In the only afternoon game reported this week Sidbury won 5-3 at home.
